What is the ideal diet?

French Bulldogs are among one of the most sensitive dog breeds. A great diet regime will help prevent skin and digestion issues as well as other types of allergies.

THE RAW DIET

The Raw diet, also known as the BARF diet is an excellent approach to feeding your French Bulldog. It's ideal to introduce the diet after your Frenchie turns 6 months old. The diet is very anti-inflammatory and research shows it helps prevent allergies as well as joint issues. French Bulldogs are unfortunately prone to both.

FRESH FOOD DELIVERY

Fresh food delivery services are becoming a very popular way of feeding. The food is cooked and delivered to your door. All the ingredients are human-grade. We choose this feeding approach for our puppies. Our little ones eat the Spot and Tango fresh food. Please order the food with the link below if you are in the process of purchasing a dog from us.

SUPPLEMENTS

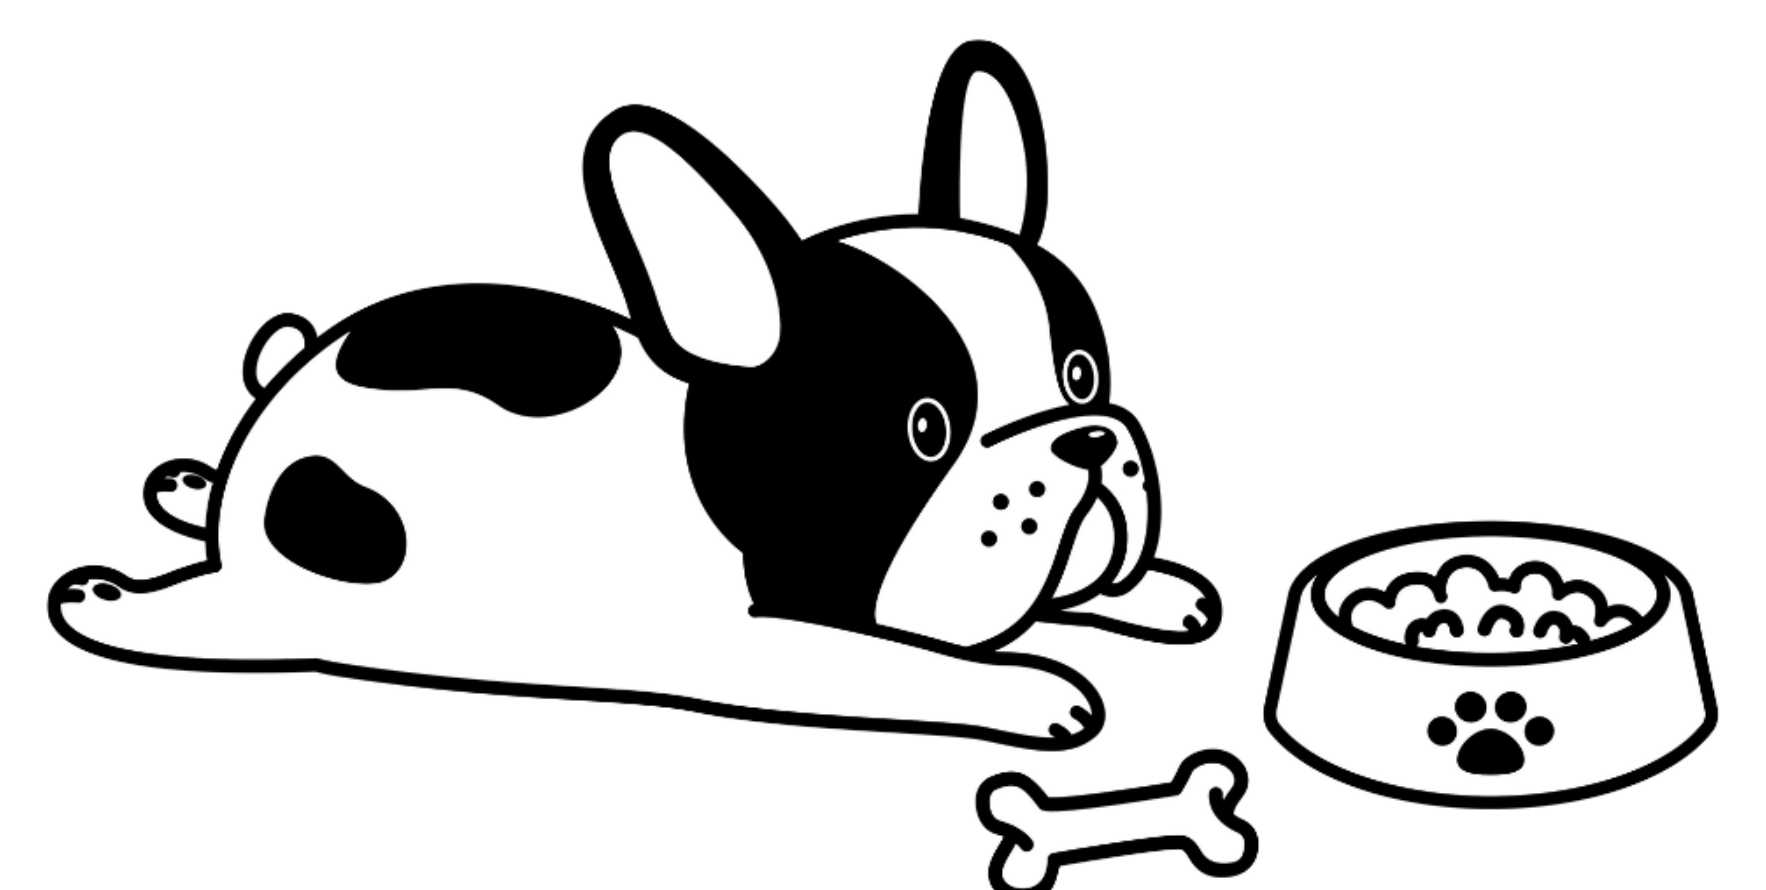

Supplements are needed for the proper growth and long-term health of your new companion. Ethical Frenchie puppies receive a mix of different supplements. Bone broth, probiotics, Omega 3, and a joint supplement. Please order the supplements provided further down. The supplements should be used permanently if you want to keep their skin in top-notch health.

What do our puppies currently eat?

Spot and Tango Fresh Food

- Human Grade
- Formulated for all life stages
- Gently cooked
- Gluten and corn free (most common Bulldog allergens)
- Delivered to your door

Spot and Tango Fresh Food Delivery Service

All our puppies are already on a fresh food diet. We use a local company called "Spot and Tango" which is a human-grade dog food delivery service.

The meals arrive frozen and need to be thawed before serving them to your pup. You can choose between different flavors (Lamb, turkey, and beef). PS. Unlimited free treats for life!

Please order and customize your puppy's plan with the link above. Your Ethical Frenchie puppy whisperer will provide the information needed (puppy's weight, age and other details).

What other foods do we recommend?

(never switch your puppy's food overnight. Every switch should be gradual. Please order the food the puppy is eating "Spot and Tango")

FRESH PET

Can be purchased at PetSmart/ Petco

HONEST KITCHEN

Human grade powdered food that can requires 5 min of prepping.

RAW DYNAMIC

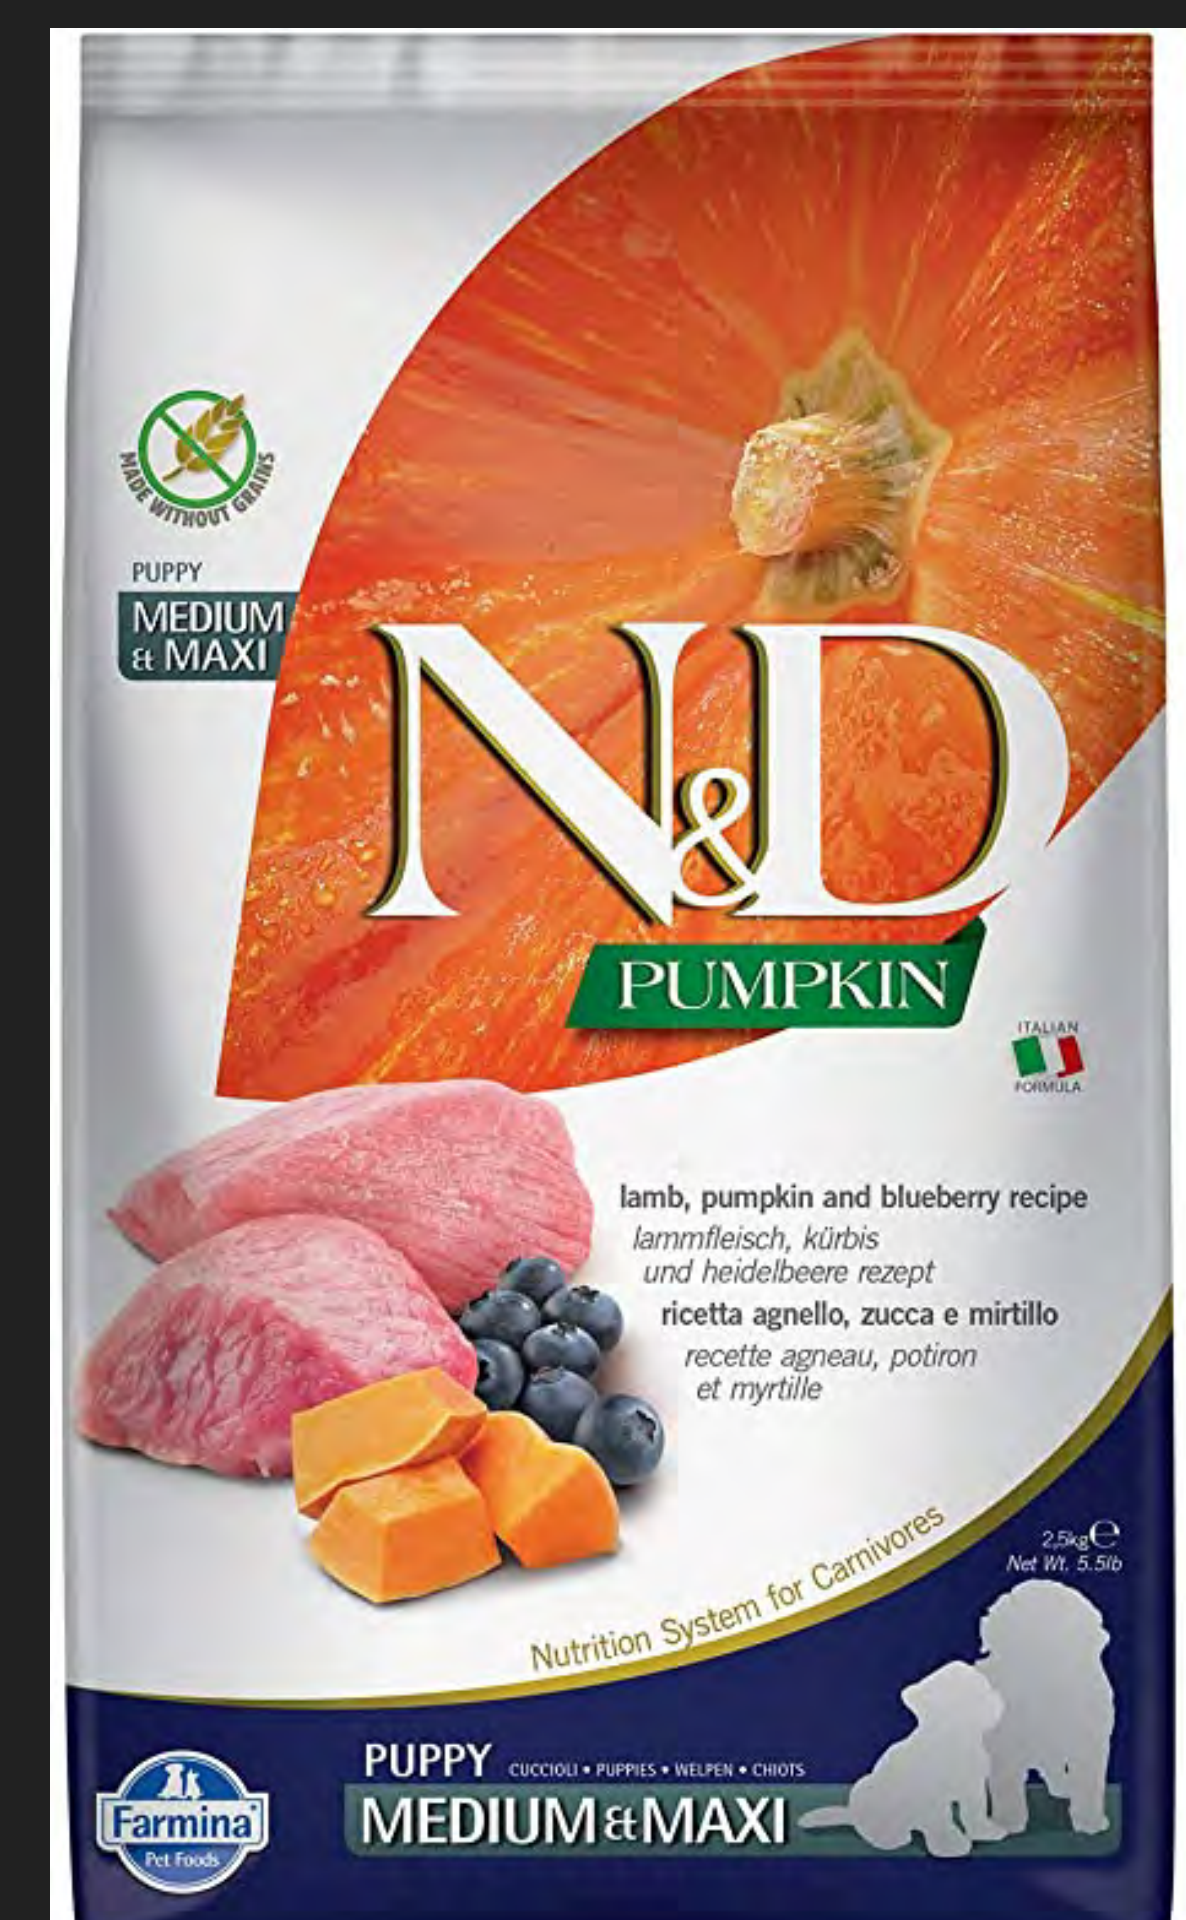

Raw food should be fed to puppies 6-months and up.

FARMINA KIBBLE

We never recommend kibble, but if all the fresh foods are out of your budget, then Farmina would be the only kibble we trust.

Supplements

(the products with a ★ sign are a must)

★ Aller-Immuno Bites

This supplement is a long-term must for French Bulldogs. Using it daily will keep their skin in great shape and their immune system functioning properly.

★ Joint Supplement

Another long-term must have for a French Bulldog. Supplementing with glucosamine will prevent hip as well as spinal disc issues.

★ Bone Broth Powder

Another great supplement that will maintain healthy digestion, give them an immunity boost and nourish their sensitive joints.

Fish Oil

Fish Oil is a great addition to a bulldog diet. The product is optional. You could still purchase it and use it on occasion, but the Immunity bites above already contain plenty of salmon oil.

Firm it Up Pumpkin

Excellent product for French Bulldogs that struggle with poop consistency. If your Frenchies poop is on the softer side and hard to pick up, this pumpkin supplement will resolve it immediately.

What about bowls?

Feeding time is their favorite time of the day. These professional manipulators will trick you into thinking they are hungry at all times (news flash, they are not, but they will beg for food every time they hear the fridge door open).

It's important not to over-feed your bulldog, keeping them lean is the goal if you want to avoid health problems.

★ Slow feeding bowl

The slow feeding bowl will prevent them from swallowing too much air (which will result in gassiness). It will also prevent more tragic events like choking (this applies to dry food only)..

★ Elevated Water Bowl

Purchase a water bowl of choice. It does not have to be this specific one. Avoid plastic bowls - a ceramic or stainless steel water bowl is ideal.

Water Fountain

Do you want to go an extra mile for your new doggo? Our pups love 24/7 access to fresh, flowing water. Is it boujee? Yes. But do we need it? Also, yes.

So Fresh and So Clean..

Their least favorite time of the month – grooming time.

Below, you will find different grooming products, all of which are curated for Bulldogs and their sensitive skin. Your Frenchie should be groomed on a daily, weekly, and monthly basis - depending on the type of grooming. Keep scrolling for a detailed explanation.

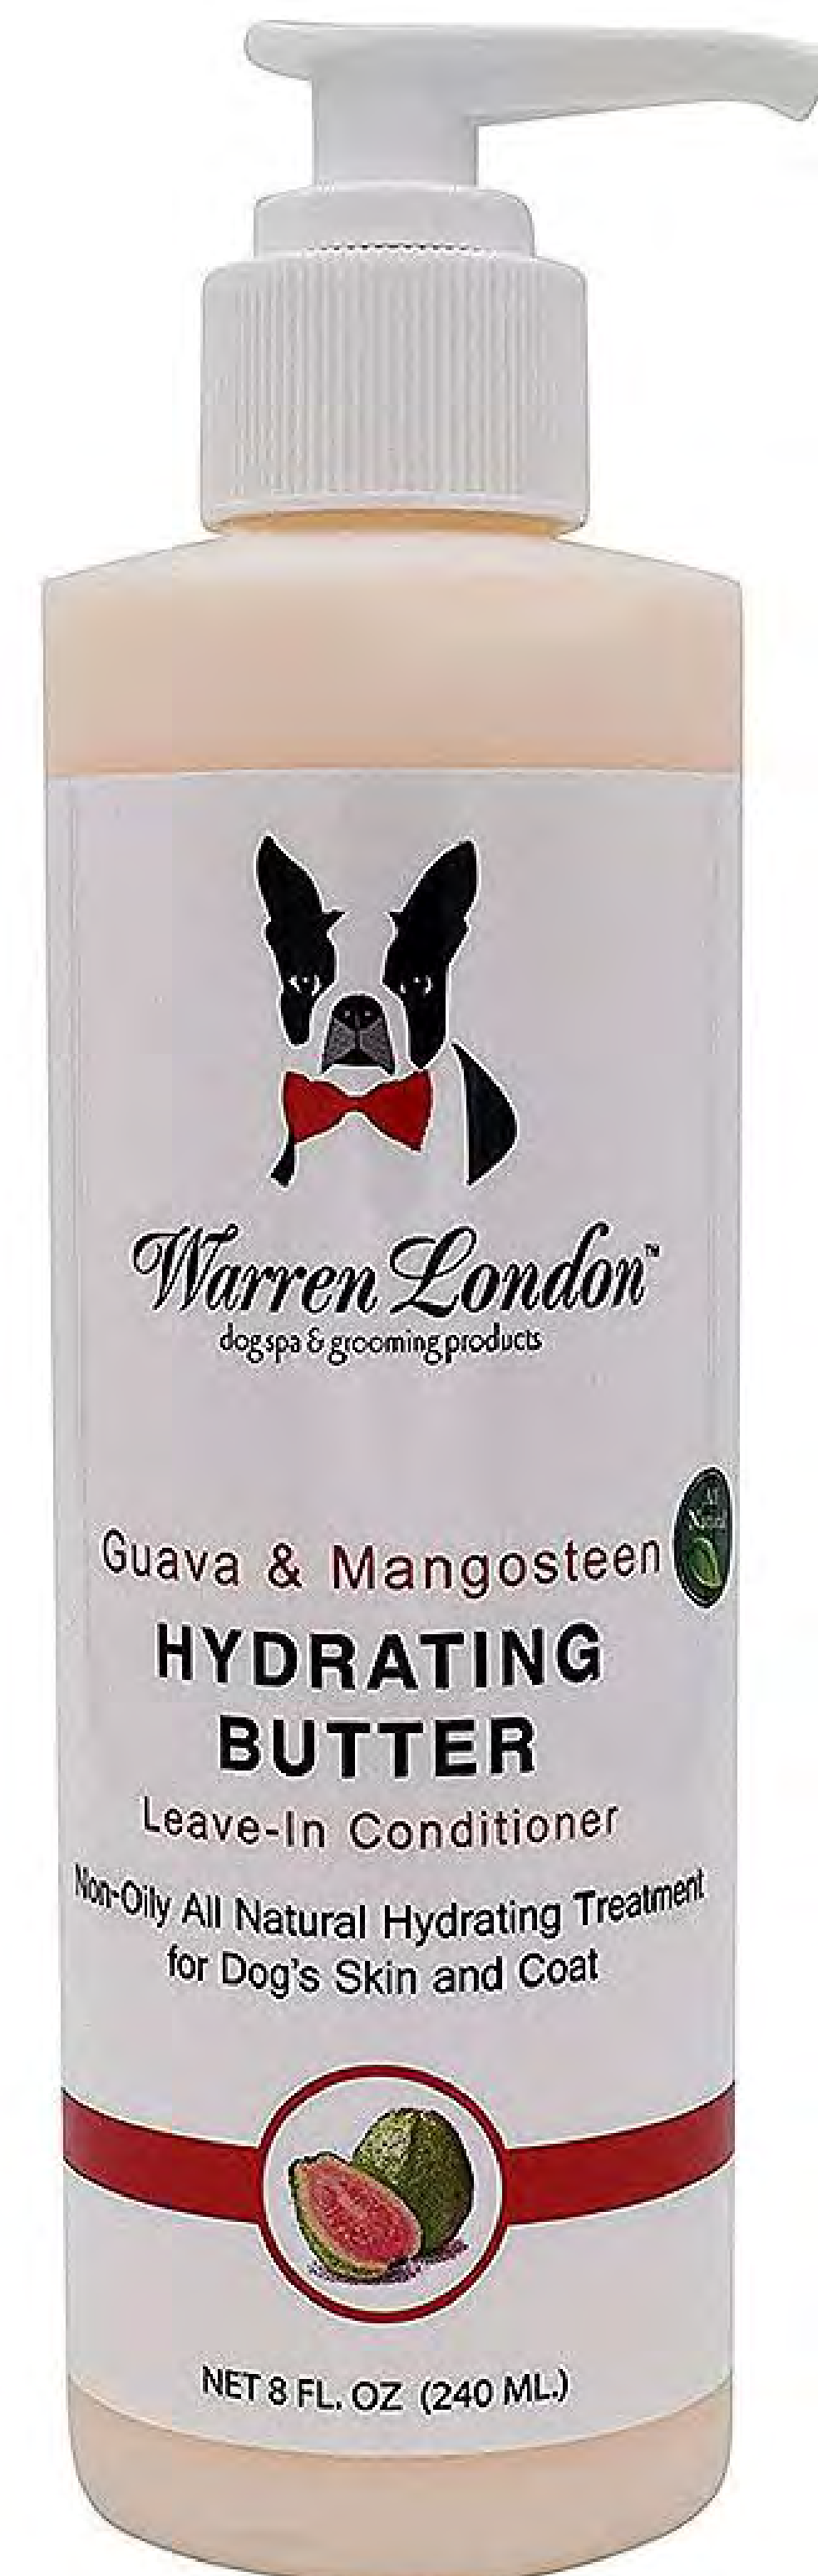

Bath Time

French Bulldogs should get a bath 1-2x per month max.

★ 4 Legger Sensitive Skin Shampoo

Hydrating Conditioner

The Lick Pad

I know what you are thinking. What in the world is a lick pad? The lick pad is a treat holder that can be attached to the wall and used as a distraction during bath time, ear cleaning, or nail clipping. Just apply some peanut butter or yogurt on top and watch your bully transform from a bath hater to a chill cooperator.

Skin Care Routine

How often should you groom their face?
The answer is multiple times per week, or at least 1x per week.

- Wrinkles need to be cleaned to avoid bacteria build up and infection
- Nose moisturized every other day. Due to the shape of their faces they can't lick their nose to keep it moist. Use the “snout soother” daily to prevent it from drying.
- Use the wrinkle cream if your pup develops tear stains
- Moisturize and protect their paw pads

★ Snout Soother

★ Pawttection

★ Wrinkle Paste

★ Anti-Bacterial Dog Wipes

Ear and Dental Care

ORAL CARE: French Bulldogs and other flat-faced dogs are at higher risk for dental disease. Their teeth will get dirty faster which can result in bad breath and dental disease. Oral hygiene is a very important part of bulldog ownership.

FREQUENCY: Daily or at least 1x per week.

EAR CARE: Those bat ears are adorable but due to their size and positioning they also collect all the bacteria from the environment. Leaving the ears dirty can and will result in an ear infection.

FREQUENCY:

French Bulldog ears should be cleaned every 7-10 days or as soon as brown wax/dirt is visible to the eye.

Prepare Your Home For Your New French Bulldog

Beds, playpens and ramps to assure the safety pup safety.

The Top 3 Home Essentials

There are many different products you will need before your home/apartment is fully puppy proofed. However, the 3 items below should be on the top of your list.

★ Fluffy Donut Bed

Second favorite Bulldog activity? Nap time. They absolutely adore this fluffy, snuggly bed.

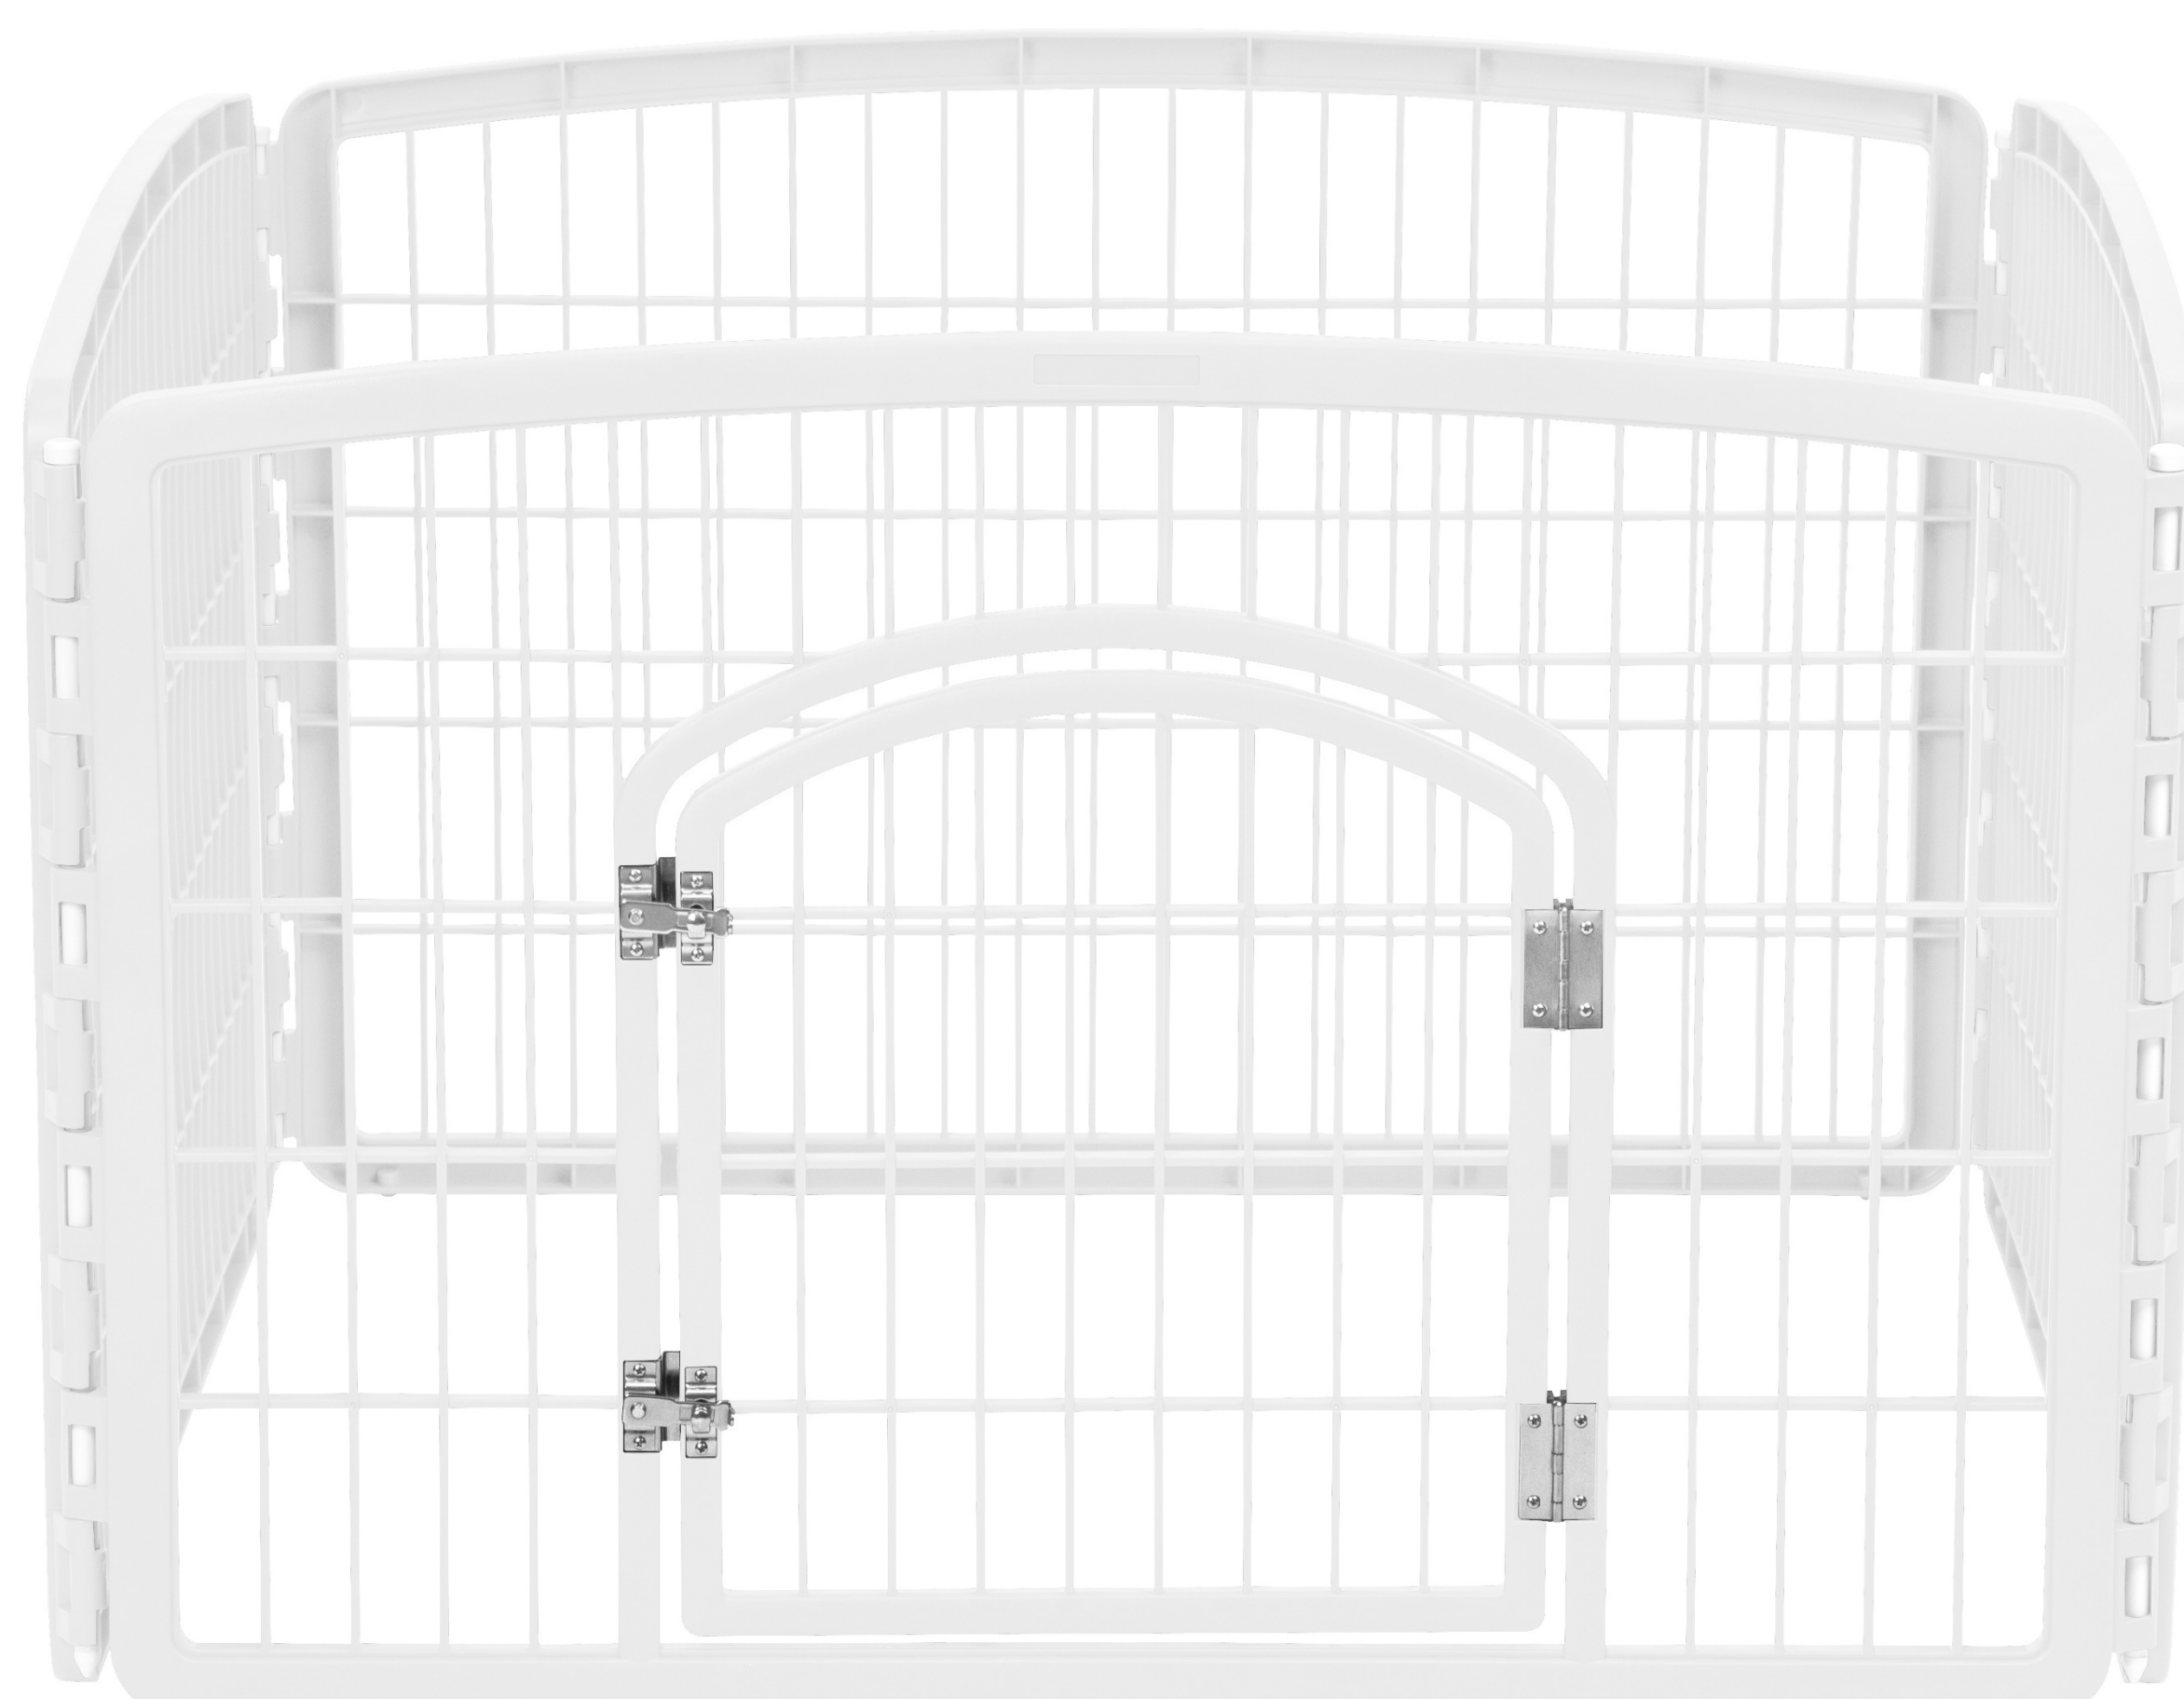

★ Doggie Stairs

French Bulldogs can easily hurt their back/hips if allowed to jump off of furniture. Stairs are a must next to every couch and human bed if your dog will be allowed on furniture.

★ Puppy Play Pen

Puppies are curious creatures. Sometimes even too curious. Use a playpen to confine your puppy when un-supervised. The playpen should not be a place of punishment. The Ethical Frenchie team will explain the proper crate/playpen training methods.

Choose a Crate of Choice

Crate training is an extremely effective method for potty training as well as keeping your puppy safe. We present you with 3 different crate models, that range differently in price. Please choose whichever works best for you.

1 ★ Small Wire Dog Crate

2 ★ Revol Dog Crate

3 ★ KindTail Dog Crate

Clearly Loved Pets

Playpen

This innovative, modern playpen eliminates the guilt that some people experience with caging their animal. It's fully transparent and blends seamlessly into your home.

★ Snuggle Heartbeat Puppy

Some puppies experience anxiety when separated from their siblings for the first time. The snuggle puppy toy contains a heating pad and a heartbeat, imitating the siblings and allowing your puppy to sleep comfortably without waking up.

Treat Tossing Puppy Camera

Potty Communication Doorbell

★ Angry Orange Odor Eliminator

★ Wee Wee Pads

Wee Pad Holder

Bitter Apple Spray (prevent furniture chewing)

Keep Em' Busy

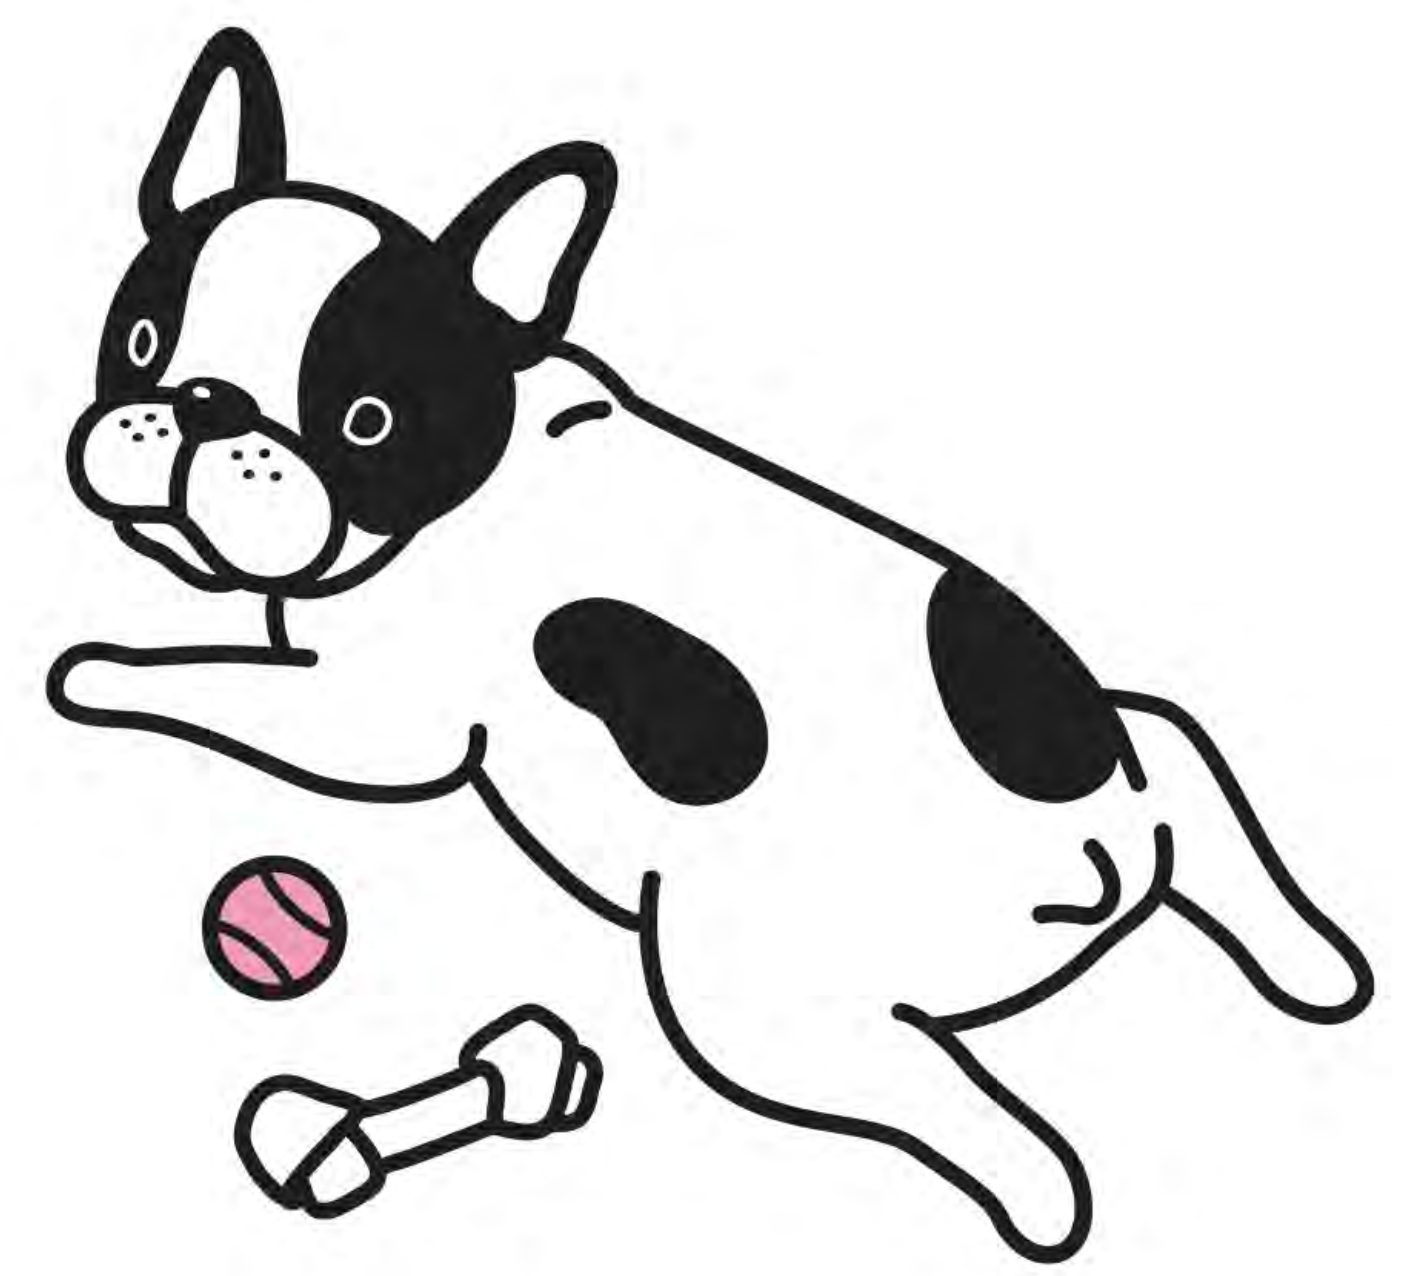

Tired puppy is a happy puppy.

Combine chewing, mental stimulation games and physical activity.

DISCLAIMER: There are games/physical activities your French Bulldog should avoid due to their sensitive back.

- ✗ Tug of war
- ✗ Catching frisbee
- ✗ Jumping off of furniture

Busy Happy Frenchie

French Bulldogs are notorious for destroying their toys in under 60 seconds. Kong is the only brand we came across that is durable enough to last for an extended period of time.
